A Success Despite Rain--

Mrs. Acker and Mrs. Joy Take Flower Show Sweepstakes Awards

Regardless of the rain Tuesday, the Flower Show, sponsored by the Sedalia Garden Clubs, was a great success in every way. Several hundred people viewed the show during the afternoon and evening. Irrigation was watered around the theme, "Springtime in Missouri," in the gorgeous display of flowers.

Mrs. J. W. Beger, president of the Sedalia Garden Club Council, presented the awards to Mrs. Wilford Acker and Mrs. C. H. Joy, sweepstakes winners during the evening and the special council ribbon to Garden Club No. 2 for the highest number of blue ribbon points.

Mrs. Acker, of Club 3, received the award for having the highest number of blue ribbon points in the arrangement classes and Mrs. Joy, Club No. 2, for having the highest total of blue ribbon points in the horticulture class.

The Junior Garden Club had a nice display which included arrangements in containers of potted rabbits, pigs, frogs and other clever little vases. There was a miniature rose arbor, a Maypole with dolls, a tree with birds and various arrangements of flowers grown by the youthful gardeners.

Much time and thought was spent on making the arrangements in the Flower Show and one of the unique arrangements was that of fruit and flower in which a glass cake stand, turned upside down, was used and the fruit, including strawberries was so perfect that many people touched the arrangement just to make certain the fruit was real.

Flying Tour Of Missouri To Begin Here

About 20 Pilots Expected To Take Part In State Trip

Various flying clubs of Missouri will get together Friday for the annual Flying Tour to be held May 29, 30 and 31.

The organization of flying clubs highly complicated Sedalia and its air strip in announcing the selection of Sedalia Municipal Airport as starting point for the tour which includes the following cities: Marshall, Macon, Kansas City, Nevada, Joplin, Seymour, Rolla, Bismark, Dexter, Sikeston, Cape Girardeau and St. Louis.

Between 15 and 20 planes are expected to make the tour and they will start arriving in Sedalia Friday afternoon and evening. The Civil Air Patrol, under Capt. Billy Padgett, will be on hand Friday and Saturday morning to park the planes, aid in transportation and help in any way possible at the airport.

Although a few pilots will not fly in until Saturday morning, most of them are expected to come to Sedalia Friday and stay here over night. There will be a briefing period to be held Friday evening at the Chamber of Commerce office. No particular entertainment has been planned for the evening because of the different time that the planes will be arriving here.

Fliers may choose their entertainment after they get here and among the things suggested to them has been the double header opening of the Babe Ruth baseball season here. Any who care to attend the game will be given transportation to and from the park.

Robert S. Johnson, director of the aviation and military affairs division of the Chamber of Commerce, Robert Younger, chairman of the Sedalia air transportation committee, under that division, other members of the division and officials of the Chamber of Commerce will be at the airport Friday and Saturday morning and will try to make the members of the Flying Clubs feel welcome during their stay here.

On Saturday morning members of the Chamber of Commerce will be at the airport with coffee and doughnuts for the fliers who arrive that morning. Those staying over night will have breakfast before going to the airport.

The Rev. D. Warren Neal will be at the airport Saturday morning to ask the blessing for the fliers before they take off on the three day tour.

In other cities along the route they will be entertained by the local Chamber of Commerce, Jaycees, civic organizations and other groups in sight-seeing tours over the cities, luncheons and dinners.

One Sedalian, Melvin Weiser, will make the tour.

Suspends Order To Deport Singer Haymes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Att. Gen. Brownell today announced the arrest of 11 leaders of the Nationalist party of Puerto Rico on charges of seditious conspiracy to overthrow the U.S. government.

Six of the arrests were made in Chicago, four in New York City and one in San Juan, the capital of Puerto Rico.

Brownell placed detainees against six other members of the Nationalist party, including the four in jail here charged with shooting five members of the House of Representatives on March 1.

The other two detainees were placed against two Puerto Ricans now imprisoned in the federal correctional institution at Danbury, Conn.

The roundup resulted from a lengthy FBI investigation into Nationalist party activity extending back to 1936.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover noted in connection with today's roundup that members of the party were responsible for a bloody revolutionary attempt in Puerto Rico in October and November, 1950, for the attempted assassination of former President Harry S. Truman at Blair House in November of that year, and for a recent shooting affray in the House here.

The Nationalist party of Puerto Rico long has been on the attorney general's subversive list, described as an organization seeking "to alter the form of government of the United States by unconstitutional means."

Hoover said the party, founded in 1922, has a history "filled with violence."

Marshall Votes Return To Mayor-Council Form of Government

MARSHALL, Mo., (AP)—Residents voted here yesterday to drop the city manager form of government and return to the mayor-council form. The vote was 1,506 to 1,293.

DeSoto Voters Keep City Manager Plan

DE SOTO, Mo., (AP)—De Soto residents, in one of the largest voter turnouts here, voted to retain the city manager form of government in a special election yesterday.

There were 1,000 votes cast to retain the city manager type of government and 840 against the proposition. Sixteen absentee ballots remain to be counted.

Only a simple majority was required for passage. City officials estimate there are a possible 2,200 voters in this Jefferson County town.

Andrew O'Rourke is the present city manager. A citizens committee petitioned the City Council on April 5 to put the form of government up to a test vote. The council approved the petition April 19.

Blames Delinquency On 'Indifference'

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Sherwood Norman, consultant to the National Probation and Parole Association, says a current rise in juvenile delinquency can be traced to "community indifference" and an "unwillingness to foot the bill" for preventive measures.

Norman, of New York, told a Social Planning Council of St. Louis meeting yesterday that it is doubtful whether the public in many communities wants to eliminate its crime headlines.

He urged more and better nursery schools and day care centers, better housing, and more widespread parental education.

Woman's Body Found In Arizona Desert

TUCSON, Ariz., (AP)—The nude, sun-battered body of a young woman—the apparent victim of a sex maniac—was found last night in the desert east of here.

Her face was mutilated. She had been stabbed 16 times in the chest with a dull knife or other pointed instrument.

Sheriff's deputies said clothing belonging to the woman, in her early 20s, was found a quarter-mile away. A belt buckle bore the words, "Colorado Aggies."

There was no indication of the victim's identity, Sheriff Frank Eymann said.

Sen. Collins Wins Florida Governorship

MIAMI, Fla., (AP)—State Sen. Leroy Collins of Tallahassee won the votes of south Florida's heavily populated areas yesterday to defeat acting Gov. Charles E. Johns for the two-year unexpired term of the late Gov. Dan McCarthy.

McCarthy and Symington (D-Mo.) were defeated by Collins (R-Mo.) in a runoff election.

At one point, McCarthy arose, announced he was leaving until the "drive" was over, and stalked from the room. He came back in about 20 minutes while Miller was still testifying.

McCarthy and Symington (D-Mo.) got into a brief hassle when McCarthy referred to James A. Wechsler, editor of the New York Post, as a one-time "top official" Symington said there was "no justification for the statement."

982,709, which was $34,176,300 below the budget.

The Senate added $33,111,800 to the House bill.

The bulk of the money in the bill—third regular money bill—passed this far this year by the Senate—is for flood control and navigation projects, but it also carries $15,265,000 for the Panama Canal and $5,352,700 for cemetery expenses.

It took the senate only a few hours yesterday afternoon to dispose of the measure, written by an appropriation subcommittee headed by Republican Leader Knowland of California.

Report Schine Violation Was OK'd by Cohn

Army Let Private Remain on Leave After Cohn Called

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army completed its testimony today in the 21st day of Senate hearings on its row with Sen. McCarthy, and Roy M. Cohn was called as first witness for the other side.

Cohn is chief counsel to McCarthy's subcommittee and is accused along with the senator of preferential Army treatment for Pvt. G. David Schine, ex-McCarthy aide.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Pvt. G. David Schine's company commander testified today Schine took New Year's leave from Ft. Dix, N.J., in violation of instructions but was allowed to remain at home after Roy Cohn telephoned the fort.

Capt. Joseph J. M. Miller said he reported Schine as "absent without leave" but that no disciplinary action was taken against Schine, and Schine's service record does not show he was AWOL.

During his testimony Miller also said he never gave any "preferential treatment" to Schine, and that neither Sen. McCarthy nor any of McCarthy's aides ever asked him to do so.

Miller's story of the New Year's incident capped earlier testimony that Schine once apparently tried to offer him a trip to Florida, and also told him he was in the service "to remake the American military establishment along modern lines."

Miller said he had scheduled Schine for guard duty Dec. 31 and had specifically instructed him he was not to leave the post without Miller's authority. Miller said he also had advised Schine that because Schine had a Christmas pass, he would not be entitled to a pass for New Year's Day.

He said he considered that Schine was absent from the company area without permission, and ordered a search for him which disclosed Schine had signed out of the fort on a pass to New York as of 11:30 a.m., but that actually he had left prior to 10:45 a.m. when the search was begun.

Miller said the arrangement was "that all passes for Schine were to clear through Miller and Schine was not to leave on any other authority."

Miller said Roy Cohn, chief counsel to the McCarthy subcommittee, called at 3 o'clock that afternoon to say Schine would be working on subcommittee business "throughout the weekend."

Under questioning by Sen. Symington (D-Mo.), Miller said he considered Schine's absence was "absence without leave" and so reported to his regimental commander, who in turn reported to Maj. Gen. Cornelius Ryan, the fort commander.

Miller quoted Ryan as directing that if a member of the McCarthy subcommittee called and requested a pass, Schine was to be given one.

Miller said Schine had been given a "pass form" on his first day at the post, but this form was merely to prove to people off the post that Schine was legally off the post.

Normally, Miller added, he kept such forms locked in a safe but gave Schine one so there would be no administrative delays.

He said this was "indicative of the trust I placed in Pvt. Schine" to use the form only when Schine had specific authority to leave the fort.

Miller's testimony was that much of Miller's testimony was relevant to the issue of whether he and his aides pressured for preferential treatment of Schine.

At one point, McCarthy arose, announced he was leaving until the "drive" was over, and stalked from the room. He came back in about 20 minutes while Miller was still testifying.

McCarthy and Symington (D-Mo.) got into a brief hassle when McCarthy referred to James A. Wechsler, editor of the New York Post, as a one-time "top official" Symington said there was "no justification for the statement."

One of Worst Navy Peacetime Disasters Occurs Off Coast

No Immediate Explanation of Explosions Except For Report High Octane Gas Was Involved In Incident Early This Morning

QUONSET POINT, R. I., (AP)—Two explosions and a fire killed about 100 Navy men and injured 125 others aboard the aircraft carrier Bennington today as she cruised along the eastern coastline en route from Norfolk, Va., to her home base at Newport, R. I.

Several hours after the Navy had announced 79 had died and 220 had been injured the Bennington's skipper, Capt. William F. Raborn Jr., told newsmen that "about 100 were killed."

The craft came into this port shortly after noon today, her decks lined with tired crewmen, their faces blackened by smoke.

Eus. Robert Grant of Brooklyn, N.Y., his own ankles bleeding, told newsmen "all I can say, is God I'm lucky to be alive." He was directing the evacuation of the casualties as he spoke.

Grant estimated the first of two explosions occurred about 6:15 a.m. today.

He said: "I was in the forward hangar bay when I heard general quarters alarm sounded. I listened for a moment and suddenly it dawned on me that there was no report that this was a drill."

The disaster probably was one of the worst in Naval peacetime history. There were 178 men missing or killed in 1952 in a mid-Atlantic collision between the destroyer Hobson and the carrier Wasp.

A shift of helicopters carried many of the seriously injured ashore to the Newport Naval Hospital across the bay from here as the 32,000-ton Essex class carrier moved toward port.

There was no immediate explanation of the explosions but one report said high octane gas was involved.

Grant said the fire evidently was caused by two explosions, one before the general quarters alarm was sounded and one afterward.

Grant said: "Five guys went to the hatch and I saw them pulling on it. Suddenly a terrific explosion shook the ship and blew the hatch in. The five guys just vanished."

Grant said the hangar suddenly filled with smoke and that there must have been 30 or 40 men around, some choking and some coughing and others "just plain screaming."

Grant said "we all gripped another's hands and the lead man made his way to an opening to the starboard side forward."

"My ankles are raw and bleeding," he said, "but that is nothing, nothing at all compared to what happened to some of my buddies."

Grant said the fire crews fought the blaze almost as soon as it started and were still fighting it at the time the carrier docked at Quonset.

The carrier reached port at 12:31 p.m., more than six hours after the estimated time of the explosions.

The Bennington, with a crew of 2,800, was engaged in what the Navy called routine training when the fire occurred.

The 32,000-ton Essex class carrier, which saw action in World War II, was due at this naval station shortly after noon.

Helicopters already had removed some of the more seriously injured and landed them on a street near the Naval hospital in nearby Newport.

The Bennington reported earlier the fire was under control.

Secretary of the Navy Charles A. Thomas was enroute to Quonset to board the ship as soon as she arrived.

Initial reports said the fire involved high octane gas. The carrier carries about 2,800 officers and men.

Twelve helicopter flights bearing seriously injured Navy personnel landed in a private field alongside the Newport Naval Hospital by 11:30 a.m.

Two entire wards at the hospital were cleared to receive the injured.

Both the Newport R. I. Hospital and the Tufts Hospital at Fall River, Mass., offered their services and blood supplies.

A small contingent of anxious relatives gathered at the Quonset station as the Bennington neared shore. Officials assembly them all in the base theater and served them sandwiches and coffee.

During World War II action, the Bennington escaped serious damage, but her flight deck was buckled in a typhoon in 1945.

The carrier was placed in mothballs in 1946 and returned to active duty in 1952. Since then, the vessel has been assigned to the Atlantic fleet.

The Navy's last fire disaster also occurred in a carrier, the Lexington, when 32 Navy men and 5 civilians lost their lives in an explosion and fire while the ship was undergoing overhaul at the Boston Naval shipyard on Oct. 16, 1953.

A Navy court of inquiry into that disaster concluded that it was caused by an accidental fire in the ship's hydraulic system.

French Union Forces Blow Up Own Posts

Rush Reorganization Of Defenses Today In Face of Commies

HANOI (AP)—French Union forces blew up two of their own posts today in the southeastern part of the Red River delta. They hastily reorganized their defenses as the Vietminh stepped up harassing attacks and ambushes in all key centers.

Under the protection of tanks, armored cars and warplanes, the French evacuated the garrisons of the defense points at Tranne and Daoulon. Both of these are within six miles southeast of the big market town of Thai Binh, 55 miles southeast of Hanoi.

The French said the two posts were "no longer useful" for defense of the delta in the Thai Binh sector.

The Vietminh broadening their attacks to get the big rice crops now being harvested, swept into a string of half dozen villages within 10 miles of Hanoi. French infantrymen using bayonets drove the Vietminh out of these.

Twenty-five miles southwest of Hanoi in the Hanoi sector, Vietminh in strength estimated around 2,000 staged a big ambush of a French motor convoy and patrol. The French reported 30 Vietminh killed and two captured after a two-hour fight.

The Vietminh divisions moving east from the captured fortress of Dien Bien Phu suddenly veered northward earlier today in an apparent attempt to encircle French defenses in the delta.

The shift of Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap's Communist-led legions was believed designed to form a giant pincer squeezing the delta's northern perimeter while other Vietminh troops threaten it from the west.

The French sent out U.S.-supplied B26 bombers and Corsairs to air strike was concentrated on troops bunched near Nua Phu, about 90 miles southwest of Hanoi.

In the delta itself only light action was reported. Twelve rebels were killed as French warplanes pounded Vietminh forces harassing outposts southeast of Hanoi.

Meanwhile, the airfield of French wounded from Dien Bien Phu continued. The French command said 148 were flown out last night, bringing the total evacuated to 710.

The French hope to wrap up the shuttle today. The rebels have given permission to evacuate a total of 838.

The French command in Saigon said it will build up 13 new military units from the reserves of Viet Nam battalions lost at Dien Bien Phu. A spokesman said, with reinforcements expected from France, the new units will total some 12,000. This is about the number at Dien Bien Phu.

The spokesman said the new units would be sent in to bolster the imperiled delta.

British Plan On Indochina Turned Down

It Would Have Opened Discussion By Rival Forces

GENEVA (AP)—A British plan to open immediate military discussions here between rival military commands on how to end the war in Indochina has failed to win approval from all the anti-Communist delegations.

This was disclosed today by a conference source, who said the delegations from Laos and Cambodia objected to a four-point proposal made yesterday by British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden. Delegates from those two Indochina states feared the plan might lead to partition of their countries.

The conference was temporarily adjourned until tomorrow to give the delegations time to work out a new approach, the source said.

While delegates here huddled in private sessions, French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault was telling the French Cabinet in Paris the conference would take a decisive turn in "about eight or 10 days." Bidault made a hurried trip to Paris to give a report on the negotiations here. He will return to Geneva tonight.

Pham Van Dong, the Vietminh minister, put forward a plan yesterday which emphasized earlier Communist claims on parts of Laos and Cambodia.

The Communists maintain the two kingdoms are engaged in civil wars against "resistance governments" composed of their own citizens.

The governments of the two kingdoms categorically reject this. They say the Communists fighting in their territory are invaders who should withdraw.

Private consultations were in progress today among the delegates to redraft the Eden plan and to persuade Molotov to agree to discussing a possible cease-fire in Viet Nam without implications for Laos and Cambodia. Eden was to meet with Molotov.

Cohn to Show Pvt. Schine Aided 'Mac'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Roy M. Cohn said today he and Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) will offer "documentary proof" that Pvt. G. David Schine did lots of work for the Senate Investigations subcommittee on leaves from Ft. Dix, N. J.

This is the story of yesterday's testimony. Today's story is on page one.

Cohn made the comment in advance of this 21st day of televised hearings into the McCarthy-Army dispute.

The investigating senators have heard testimony that Schine received 16 passes during eight weeks of basic training after he was drafted last November, compared with no more than four for the average trainee.

An Army effort to portray that graphically by means of charts brought vigorous protests from McCarthy and Cohn yesterday. The senator said the charts were "completely dishonest, phony" as the Army had prepared them. He said the obvious purpose was to deceive TV viewers. Army officers denied that.

McCarthy and Cohn, his subcommittee's chief counsel, have been charged by Army officials with bringing improper pressure to bear to get favored Army treatment for Schine, who was an unpaid subcommittee consultant before being drafted.

In turn, they have accused Secretary of the Army Stevens and Army Counselor John G. Adams of treating Schine as a "hostage" to sidetrack the Senate subcommittee's investigation of alleged Communists in the Army. McCarthy has stepped off the subcommittee for this inquiry.

Cohn told newsmen he does not know if Schine will take the stand to describe under oath his activities on frequent absences from Ft. Dix after he was inducted last Nov. 3.

"But we have documents—notes in his own handwriting—that will show he did extensive work on committee reports in that period," Cohn said. "We are prepared to prove that he was active on committee business while he was out on a pass."

Major Gen. Cornelius E. Ryan, Ft. Dix commander, testified yesterday that his inspector general had failed to find any evidence to back published reports that Schine visited night clubs while on a pass. Ryan said if Schine was on committee business, the large number of leaves he got did not constitute "preferential treatment."

Acting Chairman Mundt (R-SD) told reporters he thinks it is up to the Army to prove that Schine wasn't working for the committee in his absences if it contends he wasn't. The Army has made no such charge.

There were these other developments:

1. Mundt called for a closed session of the subcommittee to consider a revised proposal from Joseph N. Welch, special Army counsel, for release of monitored telephone calls between principals in the case and between senators and Pentagon officials. Republicans and Democrats on the subcommittee have accused each other of trying to keep them secret.

2. Ray H. Jenkins, special subcommittee counsel, said that "undoubtedly" the Army's case could be finished today. Mundt said the hearing will turn immediately to the McCarthy side.

3. McCarthy told reporters there is no basis for rumors he may head overseas on a round of inspections of U.S. installations soon after the inquiry ends. He said he would be busy on subcommittee business in this country.

4. Jenkins said he will offer today a record of 253 long-distance telephone calls made by Schine from Ft. Dix — "quite a number of them" to members of the McCarthy subcommittee staff.

Jenkins said this might back up a theory that "if unusual liberties were taken by Pvt. Schine . . . (they) were taken by him by reason of the fact that he had the backing of this powerful investigating committee."

The subcommittee spent about four hours yesterday arguing the merits of two charts presented by the Army to compare the record of Schine's 16 passes in the eight weeks of Ft. Dix training to the four that Gen. Ryan said the average recruit would get.

McCarthy objected that the Army had placed "black spots" on one chart to designate times Schine was absent on leave and had used "white spots" to show passes to the average trainee. He said this made the charts "phony" and said they were designed to "deceive" the television audience.

On the calendarlike blocks of the average trainee's chart, black lines had been employed to mark days off.

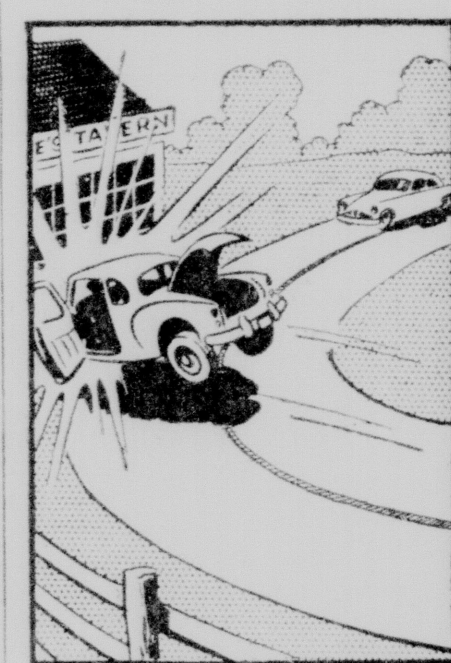

Lt. Col. John F. T. Murray, who said he gave orders for preparing the charts, said it might have been better if the same symbols had been used on both charts. But he denied repeatedly that any attempt had been made to "deceive" the subcommittee. And he said the squares on Schine's chart were not to be regarded as "black marks" against the private.

McCarthy had demanded an estimate of what the charts cost. Murray put the figure at $213.50, including the cost of small duplicates distributed to subcommittee members and news media.

Murray said the average trainee's chart was prepared hurriedly, for comparison purposes. He said the draftsman told him there was not time to permit the ink to dry on black squares and

Caution Is The Word For That Three-day Holiday— 380 Will Die In Memorial Day Weekend

An estimate, based on past three-day Memorial Day weekends, says that 380 people will die in the highway accidents during this year's long holiday. The estimate, by the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies, also says that of the 380 fatal accidents, 210 will be due to the excessive speeding and alcohol. Illustrated below are the most common highway accidents and their relation to the 380 total.

SPEEDING will be responsible for 126 of the predicted 380 Memorial Day weekend highway accident deaths.

OVERDOING IT with alcohol will contribute to the deaths of 84 persons, both motorists and pedestrians.

RIGHT OF WAY ignored is expected to result in Memorial Day weekend accidents that will kill 27 people.

FAILURE to keep to right of center line is a prominent cause of highway accidents. Expected toll: 38 dead.

SLEEPING at the wheel, or overfatigue is a subtle danger and is expected to claim 24 victims.

ACCIDENTS caused by miscellaneous factors will kill the final 81 of the predicted 380 total.

then put white lettering over them, as had been done with the chart on Schine, McCarthy, scoring that explanation, said he had been told the ink would dry in 10 minutes.

McCarthy called the Army's action "the most deliberate attempt ever made before our committee to create a deceptive, phony chart." He said he held responsible "the civilian politicians over in the Pentagon" and did not blame Murray. Murray said he was more responsible than anyone else.

Observing that the television audience is "the jury here," McCarthy said viewers got "a completely false impression" from the charts.

Both Murray and Ryan contended that the charts were not deceptive if the captions were read.

Mundt told Murray at one point: "You did deceive me, very definitely. I am sure it was an inadvertent deception . . ."

McClellan told newsmen he saw no attempt at deception, and said of the charts, "I see nothing wrong with them."

Welch, the Army counsel who had characterized as "doctored" a trimmed-down photo provided by the McCarthy camp early in the hearings, objected to McCarthy's description of the charts as "phony."

McCarthy contended that Schine, instead of going to the movies or dances like the average trainee, was "doing the work of the committee in digging out Communists" during his leaves. Murray said that "if it can be proved that he was working on committee business throughout all that period, I suppose there is nothing to say."

"You would not take it upon yourself to say that he was not doing committee work, would you?" McCarthy demanded.

"No, sir, I wouldn't take it upon myself to say that," Murray replied. "I can see nothing wrong with Schine working when he could be playing, sir."

In the other Army testimony yesterday, Col. Kenneth E. Belieu, executive officer in Stevens' office, testified that Cohn "blew his top" when he was denied admittance to a secret laboratory on a visit to Ft. Monmouth, N. J., with Stevens and McCarthy and others last Oct. 20.

Belieu, who testified he lost his left leg in Korea, repeated the story the committee has heard several times before that Cohn said in effect:

"This is it. This is war with the Army. I don't understand why you let Communists work in here and you won't let me in. I have been cleared for classified information. I have access to FBI files when I want them. You are doing this just to embarrass me. We will investigate the heck out of you."

Belieu added: "I thought he was very angry. I thought he was blowing his top, in fact."

Belieu said Cohn maintained a "slow simmer" despite a "gentlemanly" apology by Stevens for having barred him from the laboratory.

The Wisconsin senator contended it was "a waste of time" to go over the incident because he said "it has nothing to do with the charges brought against us."

Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill.) said he would have been mad too if he had gone all the way to Ft. Monmouth and then been denied a chance to see anything.

Ham Operators To Span U. S. In Radio Relay

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—The first official attempt to span the continent by amateur radio relay on two meters is scheduled Saturday and Sunday and New Mexico hams apparently hold the key to success.

In a manner reminiscent of the early days of radio, messages will be passed from station to station all across the country. It's never been done on the two-meter amateur band—a very high frequency band where transmissions are normally limited to a relatively short distance.

"The toughest place to cross is the Arizona-New Mexico-Texas Panhandle stretch," said A. David Middleton, one of the leaders in the project. "Towering mountains and the distance between the communities pose particular problems," he said.

The project was conceived by the Two Meter and Down Club of Los Angeles. The Albuquerque VHF Club and similar organizations and individuals all across the country will take part.

An effort will be made to move messages both ways across the nation. At opposite ends of the relay are the headquarters of the Los Angeles club and the headquarters of the American Radio Relay League in West Hartford, Conn.

The ARRL is a national organization of hams formed 40 years ago to handle just such relays as this. The first transcontinental relay on low frequency bands in the vicinity of the present broadcast band was completed in 1917.

The situation they faced then was similar to that facing the hams engaged in the higher frequency test now. The average two meter signal will travel between 100 and 200 miles.

An unofficial practice relay attempted last Sunday failed when the messages going both ways bogged down as the result of an abnormal change in weather conditions which interfered with reception at Amarillo and Santa Rosa, east of Albuquerque.

They'll try it again this week with several added stations.

"The day might come when a two-meter relay across the country could prove a lifesaver in getting an important message through," Middleton said.

Agrees to Enter Mental Hospital

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Dr. Roy K. Marshall, nationally known scientist, was placed on five years probation yesterday after voluntarily agreeing to enter a mental hospital.

He pleaded no contest in U. S. District Court here to a charge of sending obscene letters through the mails to five teen-age girls.

The probation term was imposed by Judge Thomas J. Clary on the recommendation of Dr. Edward A. Strecker, prominent psychiatrist.

An unofficial practice relay attempted last Sunday failed when the messages going both ways bogged down as the result of an abnormal change in weather conditions which interfered with reception at Amarillo and Santa Rosa, east of Albuquerque.

They'll try it again this week with several added stations.

"The day might come when a two-meter relay across the country could prove a lifesaver in getting an important message through," Middleton said.

LONDON (AP)—Sir Frederick W. Doidge, 70, New Zealand's high commissioner in Britain, died today at his London home. He had been ailing about a week.

Doidge became high commissioner in 1951 after serving as New Zealand's foreign minister. A long-time newspaperman in both New Zealand and England, he entered politics in 1938 when he was elected to the New Zealand Parliament.

Soviet Press Hails British-Soviet Treaty As Security Insurance

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet press hailed the British-Soviet Mutual Aid Treaty on its 12th anniversary today as still the best cornerstone for European security. But newspaper articles complained that Britain has drifted away from its treaty obligations "by becoming the junior partner of the United States."

Both Izvestia, the government official paper, and Pravda, the Communist party official paper, stressed a theme that Britain had deserted "a policy of cooperation with all its allies of the war period" by leaning toward the United States.

Baptists Act On Statement About Freedom

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The American Baptist Convention today was acting on a "statement concerning freedom," calling for a fight against "a tyranny that seems to respect neither rights of individuals nor the democratic processes of our nation."

Baptist churches of Central Missouri are affiliated with the Southern Baptist convention, not the American.

"There are individuals and groups in American life so intent upon combating the menace of communism that they adopt the very principles and methods which make communism frightening," the statement read.

While no names were mentioned, delegates accepted the paper as a timely appeal to Sen. Joseph McCarthy, R-Wis., and his Senate investigating group. It was prepared by a church committee.

The statement went on to say the truth was being slanted for ulterior purposes or submerged in suspicion and fear as these individuals and groups:

"Attack nonconformity as subversive, make no distinction between dissent and disloyalty, confuse disagreement and disaffection, and equate association with guilt."

"Adherents of these un-American doctrines openly consider others guilty until proved innocent and have imperiously reinstated the discredited theory that the end justifies the means."

"Thus there is danger lest in attempting to prevent evil, greater evils arise."

In conclusion, the statement expected to gain quick approval from the delegates, called for reaffirming "our loyalty and devotion to truth fairly arrived at by free inquiry and debate without restriction or coercion."

Patient Youths Win Stubborn Battle For Right of Way

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—For three and a half hours a stubborn battle was fought in silence along a lonely road here.

It began when two cars met on the narrow thoroughfare—too narrow for both to pass.

The impasse grew tense. Soon three youths hopped from one car. They lounged on the road bank, read, played cards. The other driver gnashed his teeth, but refused to back.

When the trio reached for sleeping bags—210 minutes later—their battle was won.

Army Worms Found In All Small Grains

By STERLING KYD
Extension Entomologist

Army worms are being found in all small grains except oats and in pastures. Feeding on leaves, stems and roots, they have caused a large number of worms. All these worms should be checked carefully for possible infections.

Our recommendations are still the same: 1 1/2 to 2 pounds of toxaphene (the sure and use the 2 pounds in tank foliage) or 4 pounds of Dieldrin. We also have heard that if you let the worms get about half grown—1 1/2 to 3 inches long—your chances of cleaning them out is better than when they are all quite small. Until they reach this size, they will not be causing extensive damage and by waiting you can also get a much better idea of how many worms are in the fields. Caution your farmers, too, that they definitely should thoroughly check each field before having it sprayed. Some folks are getting it wrong and are spraying unnecessarily.

Another problem has come up on army worms. Some fields have been sprayed before the farmers realized that the crop had been heavily damaged by cold weather. In some instances, these fields will be cut for hay or silage. Warm farmers that no field should be cut in this manner until at least 15 days after spraying. In absolute minimum, and 21 days would be a lot safer. We are finding variegated cutworms primarily in alfalfa and red clover and in home gardens. On the hay crops, take the hay off and spray the alfalfa. In the home garden, use the poison bait. (Micrograph instructions are available at Extension Office).

Black and clay-colored cutworms have injured fields and are completely taking out many fields of corn. By waiting until these worms are cutting off corn at or below the ground line and also working on the foliage. In most fields, there is considerably more above-the-ground damage than was seen last year.

All newly planted corn should be hatched carefully for first signs of damage. A toxaphene-poisoned bait is giving much better and much faster control than any of the sprays. Of course, sprayed on insecticides are generally slow workers, and kill should not be hoped until about 5 to 7 days after spraying. On the other hand, a farmer is definitely interested in as fast a killing as possible. The only thing that seemed to give a fast kill was the bait.

On those fields that are not damaged sufficient to need a baiting, we suggest using the bait. On other fields that will have to be replanted, use the bait, or as second choice, disc in dieldrin at 1/2 pound per acre, add in 2 pounds of chlordane 2 1/2 pounds. Frankly, however, we believe the bait will give the most satisfactory results and will do it for a lot less money.

In mixing the bait, use the following formula: 100 pounds of bran; 2 quarts or 6 pounds toxaphene emulsifiable concentrate; 1 gallon blackstrap molasses; 7 gallons water. Mix the toxaphene and molasses in the 5 gallon of water and pour over the bran. Turn the bran repeatedly until this mixture is thoroughly distributed through it. Then add enough more water to make 5 gallons, make a moist mash, but not wet to the point that water can be squeezed out of it.

Apply this bait late in the evening at about 15-20 pounds per acre. It can be put on by airplane, engine seeder, or by hand. At night, mix the bait and about 55 degrees a second baiting may be necessary.

Pettis County Insect Situation
The aerial operators report 550 acres sprayed for army worms and 900 acres listed to spray. A plane is being brought in from Boone today that will also help in Pettis County. Farmers need to check fields thoroughly to know whether to spray and so as not to spray unnecessarily.

Pasture, fence rows, ditches, grain, waterways, etc., are sprayed with field sprayers at 10 pounds of actual toxaphene per acre to control both army worms and grasshoppers. A weed killer 2-4-D can be added to get weeds at the same time.

The poison bait is giving best results with cutworms in gardens. Micrographed instructions are available at the Extension Office.

Sees Passage Of Compromise Support Bill

WASHINGTON — Rep. Hope (R-Kan.) predicted after a conference with President Eisenhower today that the House will pass a compromise farm bill, probably short of the administration's request for a shift from rigid to flexible price supports.

Hope, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, made the prediction to newsmen after he and three other members of the committee had conferred with Eisenhower for an hour and a half at a White House breakfast.

"It is my feeling we will agree in committee on a good sound compromise bill, and that the house will pass it," Hope said.

He declined to speculate on what action the Senate will take.

The President, in his farm message to Congress, asked for enactment of legislation providing for a shift at the start of next year from the present program of rigid price supports on major crops to flexible supports.

At present, basic farm commodities are supported by the government at 90 per cent of parity. Under the Eisenhower program the support level would range from 75 per cent to 90 per cent.

Hope declined comment when asked whether Eisenhower would be satisfied with compromise legislation. Asked then whether Eisenhower had indicated today whether his position regarding flexible supports was unchanged, Hope replied:

"I wouldn't want to comment on that. It would be too much like trying to read a man's mind."

In response to another question, Hope said there was "very, very little" discussion at the White House of the political impact of the administration program on the November congressional elections. Hope did not go into any detail on the nature of the compromise he predicted, but he said it is obvious to everyone that the flexible price support proposal "is the most controversial part of the bill."

Lions Club Sets Picnic for Next Wednesday Night

The Sedalia Lions Club picnic, scheduled for Wednesday night, has been postponed one week to Wednesday night, June 2, at the Sedalia Community Center. Rain, which softened the parking area, was given as the reason for the postponement.

The club held its regular noon-day meeting at the Bottwell Hotel at which time John Ellison spoke on "Bob White Quail as Raised in Captivity," a project which he is undertaking.

Ellison told the problems of raising quail commercially and of the "hobby" which it creates. He told of starting the hobby some months ago and said it is now on a commercial basis.

Guests at the meeting were two visiting lions: Woodson Warner, Liberty, guest of Bob Ward, and O. D. Nichols, Jefferson City, past-president of that club.

The Lions Little League Club, it was announced by Manager Jimmy McNeil, will play its first game at 8 p.m. Tuesday, meeting the Aco team of the American League.

The meeting was presided over by D. Kelly Scruton, president.

Bitter Dock Union Battle Reaches Vote

NEW YORK — The bitter union fight for the right to represent 25,000 dock workers reached a portwide vote today in a National Labor Relations Board election.

Heavy police details patrolled the waterfront to prevent repetition of the intimidation and strong-arm tactics which caused the results of a pre-Christmas election to be scrapped.

Last-minute claims of victory were made by spokesmen for both the International Longshoremen's Assn., ILA and the rival AFL-ILA.

The count will start at 8:30 a.m. and the result may be in by midnight.

The NLRB assembled a staff of 191 officials from as far away as Denver to supervise the election.

With feelings running high between adherents of the rival unions, Police Commissioner Francis W. H. Adams put 2,500 New York policemen on waterfront patrol. On the New Jersey side of the vast port, hundreds of police were detailed on the waterfront.

The ILA, which ruled waterfront labor for decades before it was ousted from the AFL for harboring racketeers, took another body blow on the eve of the election. Federal David N. Edelstein placed it in receivership yesterday.

Edelstein appointed Raymond J. Sweeney, official of the New York State Bar Assn. as receiver. Sweeney's responsibilities will end if and when the ILA raises the $50,000 needed to pay a contempt of court fine imposed for its recent strike in defiance of a federal injunction.

ILA Executive Vice President Patrick J. Conolly said last night that individual members of the union had volunteered to mortgage their homes to pay the fine. Conolly said the union hoped to get the money together before the received actually took control today.

The ILA's cash has shrunk to $12,000 bank account, and even that has been threatened by the government in a move to assure payment of the fine.

The bitter waterfront campaign for members has been waged at ever-increasing tempo since the AFL established the AFL-ILA after ousting the ILA last fall for failure to clean out racketeering elements.

The first test of strength came in an NLRB election last Dec. 22 and 23. The ILA was credited with 9,000 votes and the AFL-ILA with 7,500, and 4,399 ballots were challenged.

After lengthy hearings, the election results were invalidated by the NLRB on the ground that the ILA members and supporters exerted intimidation, coercion and strong-arm tactics and thus prevented a free expression of the workers' will at the polls. The NLRB then ordered today a new election.

Since the ILA's rejected old contract expired last fall, neither union has been able to negotiate a contract with the New York Shipping Assn., which represents 170 companies and stevedoring companies.

U.S. Atty. Leonard P. Moore of Brooklyn asked the FBI yesterday to investigate the possibility of "hookups" between Communist forces on the Pacific coast and some followers of Anthony (Tony) Anastasia, ILA boss in Brooklyn.

Moore made his request after sending a 140-page report submitted by the New York-New Jersey Waterfront Commission.

The report dealt with contributions of $3,675 made to two aides of Anastasia by locals of Harry Bridges' left-wing International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union on the West Coast.

Best American, Russian Chess Players Battle

NEW YORK, P.—The best chess players in Russia are coming to America for the first time to look wits with a handpicked American team in an international match opening June 16.

The Russians, who almost came here last year but changed their minds at the last minute, will be led by world champion Mikhail Botvinnik.

In many ways the eight-day tournament will be remarkable. It will be the most definitive meeting thus far between Russian and American teams, although an American team lost to Russians in Moscow eight years ago. It will be the first time the Soviets have met America's best on their home grounds.

Botvinnik, who has dominated the upper echelons of the chess world for many years, will be pitted against the American Samuel Reshevsky.

Other pairings have not been announced.

The Botvinnik-Reshevsky match is a natural.

Reshevsky, who is 43, is generally acclaimed by his colleagues as the chess champion of the Western world.

He was a child prodigy. At the age of 7 he was playing public exhibitions and defeating major players.

Israel (All) Horowitz, publisher of the Chess Review magazine, at 46, is the oldest man on the American team. Three of the Americans are in their early 20s. The average age of the team is 31, somewhat higher than that of the Russian squad.

Last year the Russians canceled their scheduled match here when the State Department ruled they could not stay at the country home of the Soviet United Nations delegation at Glen Cove, N.Y.

This year American chess leaders feel the match is definite. The Russians are due to arrive June 10. Ironically, this time they have elected to stay at a New York hotel, although the State Department now says they can go to Glen Cove if they want.

The tournament will be held in the grand ballroom of the Hotel Roosevelt. About 1,500 spectators are expected, with tickets for the series selling at $12.

Bob Thomas In Hollywood—

Jean Hersholt Is Parting Company With Dr. Christian

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, P.—For the first time in 17 years, Jean Hersholt is parting company with Dr. Christian.

The great Dane is playing one of the leading roles in "Run for Cover" with James Cagney, Viveca Lindfors and John Derek. He'll be no heavy in this one. He plays Miss Lindfors' father, a stationer. He is a frontier farmer.

I visited him at his Beverly Hills home, where he has lived for almost 30 years. He looked a little like a doctor, except that he had grown sideburns and a mustache for his film role. He relaxed in his upstairs study, a room laden with medals and trophies, including three honorary Oscars and awards from foreign countries.

"I have no beef with Dr. Christian," he said, puffing on a pipe. "He has been very good to me. I was on radio every week, summer and winter, 18 years with the same sponsor. I don't believe any other show can match that record."

I asked him if Jean Hersholt and Paul Christian are the same person. "I don't like to think so," he replied thoughtfully. "I like to think I have an identity of my own. That's one of the reasons I am doing this picture. I want to prove that I can do something else."

That doesn't mean he's abandoning the Doc. The show has gone on. He's still on radio for the present. But Hersholt has made a pilot film for a TV series, and he may get active in that medium.

Supreme Court Ruling May Hurt Housing

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Supreme Court action on segregation has alienated a key Southern supporter of public housing and may have thrown into jeopardy this phase of President Eisenhower's housing program.

The court on Monday turned down an appeal by the San Francisco Housing Authority from a California lower court ruling that a policy of racial segregation in public low-rent housing projects violated the constitutional guarantee of equal protection of the laws. This, in effect, let stand the lower court decision that three Negroes were entitled to admission to a public housing project in San Francisco built for families of Italian extraction.

Yesterday, Sen. Maybank (D-SC) announced that the Supreme Court action "makes it impossible for me, believing in local government, to support any public housing."

For years Maybank has been a steadfast advocate of public housing and it was he who just recently moved in the Senate Banking Committee to salvage the President's public housing recommendations ignored in House passage of general housing legislation.

On Maybank's motion, the Banking Committee tentatively approved authority to build as many as 200,000 units of low-rent public housing a year to an over-all total of 810,000 units. This would cloak Eisenhower with ample power to carry out his proposal for a four-year program involving 140,000 net units.

On the basis of Maybanks' reversal of position, it seemed likely he might fight at a closed-door session of the Banking Committee to strip the bill of its public housing provisions. Maybank is the committee's senior Democrat.

A key Republican on the Banking Committee said Maybank's opposition probably would kill any chance of congressional approval of Eisenhower's public housing program.

Asking that his name not be used, the GOP senator said that

Mining Firm Applies For Prison Land Lease

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — A mining company has applied for mineral leases on about 1,000 acres of state-owned land near Salt Lake City but it is doubtful if there will be any immediate mining activity on it.

The present tenant might object. The land is the site of the Utah State Prison — whose officials are understood to frown upon underground explorations.

In his judgment, Maybank was speaking for all Southern Democrats.

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.), a committee member, said he would have to study Maybank's statement before stating his own position.

Yesterday's Games— ChiSox Slice Tribe Streak At 11 Games

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

The Cleveland Indians might have known that when their winning streak was broken the villains would be the Chicago White Sox.

The Indians put an 11-game string on the line in Chicago last night and the White Sox promptly snapped it with a 4-2 decision. If the streak had been the other way around, Cleveland probably would have won.

That's the way these perennial runners-up in the American League have been going at each other regularly during the past three seasons in one of the most evenly matched rivalries in the majors.

Dating back through 1951 the series stands 37-34 in favor of the Indians. Cleveland's slight edge is reflected in the standings since it has finished second all three years. The White Sox own two thirds and a fourth.

A year ago the clubs broke even against each other, 11 apiece.

Chicago now has won three of five from the first-place Indians this season. Cleveland leads the league by a game and a half over the Sox with the third-place New York Yankees uncomfortably close only two games out.

The Yanks took advantage of the Indians' misfortune last night to close the gap. They beat Washington 9-3, Detroit 5-4, Baltimore 5-4 in 12 innings. Boston left Philadelphia in last place all alone by winning 3-2.

In the National League, the Milwaukee Braves won their eighth in a row, 3-1 over Cincinnati. The New York Giants slammed 22 hits in beating Pittsburgh 21-4. St. Louis defeated the Chicago Cubs 9-4. The Brooklyn-Philadelphia game was called off because of weather.

In beating Cleveland the White Sox not only broke the team's winning streak but they pinned the first loss of the season on Bob Lemon, who had won six.

Whitey Ford went the distance for the first time this season as the Yankees ruined Bucky Harris' Night in Washington with a 17-hit assault.

Detroit's long-ball attack ruined Baltimore's hopes of breaking out of a losing streak which now runs to five games. Trailing 3-2, the Tigers tied the game in the last of the ninth on a home run by Jim Delsing. The Orioles scored in the 11th only to have Johnny Pesky get his first hit of the season, a pinch-hit homer, in the last of the 11th. In the 12th Al Kaline singled and Bill Tuttle drove him home with a triple.

The Cardinals' victory over the Cubs was a runaway for rookie Wally Moon, who stole four bases. Stan Musial hit a single, double and triple and Harvey Haddix fanned nine in winning his sixth game.

Evers Hopeful Of Being With Champs As Giant

NEW YORK (AP)—Walter (Hoosier) Evers, the newest New York Giant and a 10-year man in the major leagues, never has played for a pennant winner, but he said today, "this might be the year."

The 33-year-old outfielder, acquired from the Boston Red Sox last week, is impressed with the Giants, particularly Willie Mays. "This team certainly looks like a good one," he said. "The pitching is top notch and that guy Mays—now there's a ball player. I didn't think he was that strong, but he can really hit the ball a mile. He slammed one in Philadelphia the other night as long as any Gus Zernial ever hit up there and Gus is a lot huskier."

Evers, who started his big league career with Detroit in 1941 then was traded to the Red Sox in 1952, believes that Cleveland will win the American League flag.

"The Indians are much improved," he observed, "and I think this is the year the Yankees are going to get beat. If Cleveland doesn't do it, the White Sox may be strong enough to go all the way. Getting George Kell makes them that much stronger."

"With Ted Williams in the lineup every day and once Mel Parnell gets back, Boston is sure to move up. Jackie Jensen will begin hitting the long ball soon and in Tom Brewer, they have one of the best young pitchers I've seen in a long time."

Evers has appeared in only nine games this season—eight with the Red Sox and one with the Giants. But he hopes to see a lot of action with the Giants.

"We all think we've got a good chance to win," he said, "and I want to help as much as possible."

St. Louisans Edge Europeans By Three KO's

ST. LOUIS (AP)—St. Louis' hard-punching amateur boxers, coming through with three knockout wins, edged by Europe in the Iternal Golden Gloves matches here last night, 5-4.

This was St. Louis' first victory in three tries against a European squad. In 1939, Europe won, 5-3, and last year the matches wound up in a 5-5 standoff.

The win here came on the heels of the European's 5-5 tie with the Midwest champions last week in Chicago.

A crowd of 6,247 fans watched the nine-pound international card. There was one special heavyweight match.

The 33-year-old outfielder, acquired from the Boston Red Sox last week, is impressed with the Giants, particularly Willie Mays. "This team certainly looks like a good one," he said. ## Chuck Davey Is Underdog For Tonight

CHICAGO (AP)—Chuck Davey, who was given a boxing lesson by welterweight champion Kid Gavilan in his last Chicago Stadium appearance, steps into the same ring tonight against slugger Vince Martinez as a 7-5 underdog.

Martinez, 25-year-old Paterson, N. J., product, is ranked sixth in the welterweight bracket and has 20 knockouts among his 33 victories in 36 fights.

Davey, 28-year-old ex-Michigan State collegiate champion with a master's degree in education, was stopped by Gavilan in the 10th round on Feb. 11, 1953. It was his first defeat in a rapid buildup to the championship shot.

Davey, a southerner, started his campaign all over again. Since that time he has had six bouts, winning half of them. Two of his losses were to Al Andrews and a third was a disputed decision that went to Art Aragon in Los Angeles three months ago.

Davey has signed for a rematch with Aragon in Los Angeles June 25 and desperately needs a victory over Martinez to keep alive the hopes of a $100,000 gate for the West Coast fight.

Some ringbirds think Martinez has a good chance to knock out Davey. A cold kayo would bring an automatic six-week suspension from the Illinois Boxing Commission and put a crimp in the June 25 plans in California, which, like Illinois, is a member of the National Boxing Assn.

Davey also has an eye-catching record—40 victories against two draws and four defeats. He has 26 knockouts, but 25 of them were earlier in his career when he was being groomed for the title chance.

Haddix Trails His Last Year's Performance

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Harvey (The Kitten) Haddix, ace St. Louis southpaw, is far behind his last year's pace in complete games.

Haddix went the distance to defeat the Chicago Cubs last night, 9-4, but it was only his third complete game this season out of 10 starting assignments.

The crafty left-hander finished 19 out of 33 starting trips to the mound last season to place third in the National League.

The victory was his sixth against three defeats. He won 20 and lost nine last year.

Rookie outfielder Wally Moon stole four bases, coming within one of tying a National League record set by Dan McGann of the New York Giants back in 1904.

The Cardinals' 10-hit attack was paced by Stan Musial, who banged out a triple, double and single to drive in two runs.

Haddix retired the first 12 men to face him before Hank Sauer doubled in the fifth. Randy Jackson followed with another double and Ernie Banks singled to score two Cub runs in that frame.

The Cardinals sent 11 men to bat in a dizzy fifth inning when Cub pitchers contributed three wild The Redbirds collected four hits—including doubles by Musial and Rip Repulski and a triple by Haddix—in that inning and Moon stole two bases.

Chicago bunched three singles for a run in the seventh and scored another in the ninth when Jackson collected his second double and Walker Cooper blooped a single to the outfield.

Wisconsin Scientists Learn Not All Baseballs Are Alike

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
MADISON, Wisconsin (AP)—A batsman fouls off a brand new "official" major league baseball and the umpire tosses a duplicate out to the pitcher.

Wait a minute. That new ball may not be the same as the old one at all, even though it came out of the same carton.

That's one of the things University of Wisconsin scientists have learned during a series of tests they are making of all the popular brands of baseballs.

They also have learned that approximately 20 per cent of the balls they have tested fail to conform with the major league specifications as to size and weight, that the stitching varies so that there's quite a difference in the "feel" and that there's quite a difference in the liveliness of different makes—enough to make a good wallop travel as much as 100 more feet.

These tests undertaken by the research committee of the American Association of College Baseball Coaches (AACBC), are going on "until we learn all there is to know about a baseball." They'll try to learn whether the differences can be detected by a player during the course of the game.

The researchers also pioneered the development of the laminated bat, which was approved for use in the big leagues this year. In the course of those tests they found that experienced ball players could detect instantly differences in the weight and balance of bats. If one was only an ounce heavier than another, they could pick it out. Tennis players could do the same thing with racquets.

They feel certain pitchers can tell a light baseball from a heavy one, or can detect differences in the stitching. After several months of weighing and measuring, the researchers say they can pick out substandard baseballs before measuring them. And they proved it to the satisfaction of this observer.

These tests had their beginning when a salesman tried to persuade the college coaches to approve his make of baseball along with the four or five others they already were using. "Our ball is better," he said.

"Is it?" the coaches asked. "Let's find out."

They turned the job over to Arthur "Dyne" Mansfield, Wisconsin coach and chairman of the AACBC research committee. Mansfield enlisted the aid of Dr. Robert Evans, associate professor of physical education who had worked with him on the laminated bat experiments, the head mechanic of the university's engineering department, a couple of graduate students and finally the home economics department.

Preliminary studies last fall brought such surprising results that the AACBC decided to go further into the subject. Now Mansfield and his crew are testing a dozen each of nine different makes of balls—taken from fresh stocks received by sporting good stores.

They'll make another report, going into all the details, at next winter's meeting of the college coaches.

Here's what they're doing or propose to do:
Weigh each ball to one-tenth of a gram.

Check the circumferences with a pair of steel rings, one the minimum nine inches and one the maximum 9¼ inches. Measure the diameters on three smooth surfaces and two places on the seams.

Measure the width of the stitching on the seams (every 20 stitches) and, if they can find a micro-meter big enough to do it with absolute accuracy, the height of the raised seams.

Test the rebounding quality and "fatigue" quality of each ball—in other words, its liveliness and how much of that is lost in use.

Test the covers for tensile strength, thickness, "scuffability," water absorption and whether they're horsehide or some other leather. Early tests indicate cowhide sometimes may be used, but they'll have to call upon a Milwaukee laboratory which has the equipment to find out.

Test the wool yarn in each ball for strength, quality (whether its new or re-used wool and the number of twists per inch).

Test the tensile strength of the stitching thread.

So far it has been mostly weighing and measuring. The rules specify the ball shall weigh not less than five nor more than 5¼ ounces and that its circumference shall be not less than nine nor more than 9¼ inches.

More than 20 per cent of the balls tested so far by Mansfield and his crew fail to comply with these specifications. That includes 9¼ inches.

Make Unsuccessful Try To Reach Agreement On Substitution Rules

CHICAGO (AP)—Bert Bell, commissioner of the National Football League and officials of Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., met yesterday in an attempt to reach an agreement over substitution rules for the annual all-star football game Aug. 13.

Arch Ward, sports editor of the Chicago Tribune said "no decision" was reached.

The discussion concerned what rules to follow—the collegiate single platoon system or the free substitution rule employed by the pros.

Earlier this month, Coach Buddy Parker of the champion Detroit Lions said "we simply won't play single platoon football unless ordered by Commissioner Bert Bell."

Parker's big argument has been he doesn't want to risk injury to an offensive star such as quarterback Bobby Layne by being forced to use him on defense.

13 Americans In 3rd Round Of British Play

MUIRFIELD, Scotland (AP)—Bill Campbell and Frank Stranahan led 13 Americans into a busy third day of play of the British Amateur Golf Championship today—a session that calls for stamina as well as skill.

When play began this morning only eight of the 112 survivors of an original field of 280 had advanced to the fourth round.

The others were called upon to settle third-round arguments with the winners then scheduled to play another 18-hole round during the afternoon. This was a tough schedule for amateurs on this 6,800-yard, par-72 links, where strong winds whip in from the North Sea.

Campbell, 8-1 betting shot from Huntington, W. Va., met Scotland's long-hitting John Mill in an early third round match. Mill is the reigning West of Scotland champion.

Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, 8-1 joint choice with defending champion Joe Carr of Dublin, was matched against Dr. R. J. Henderson, little known Englishman.

Frank Stratford, Garden City, N. Y., veteran, faced Andrew C. Miller, 22-year-old Scottish medical student in another third-round match.

A dark horse among Uncle Sam's contingent was 40-year-old Harold Ridgley, open champion of Suffolk, England. Ridgley of Havertown, Pa., is a master sergeant in the U. S. Air Force and has played a great deal of golf on British courses.

Sgt. Ridgley brought all of his shots yesterday for a 6 and 5 win over Robert Carter of Scotland. He drew the lightly regarded W. R. McDonald of Scotland as a third-round opponent today.

Golfers Try Again To Play Qualifying Round at St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A field of 176 golfers, delayed by rain yesterday, make another attempt today to play their 18-hole qualifying round for the 47th annual men's Missouri State Golf Association's amateur tournament at Sunset Country Club.

The 63 low scorers in the trials will join defending champion Bill Stewart of Springfield in the match play.

The finals will be held Sunday over 36 holes on the hilly course. Most players agreed that it would take a score of about 70 to take the medal honors on Sunset's 6,317-yard course with a par 38-34-72.

Estimates on the score needed to qualify ranged around 80, give or take a stroke, according to the weather conditions.

Sen. Johnson Losing Beer Ball Battle

WASHINGTON, May 26.—Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.), champion of the minor leagues, appeared today to be headed for the showers in his tilt with beer and big league baseball.

Johnson, who is retiring from the Senate this year and says he'll run for Governor of Colorado, is the author of a bill he says was originally aimed squarely at the beer-making business of St. Louis.

He later changed it to bring within the anti-trust laws any professional baseball team controlled by a commercial enterprise. Originally it said "affiliated with the alcoholic beverage industry."

Johnson said at the time—last February—that meant the St. Louis Cardinals and Anheuser-Busch, Inc., brewer of Budweiser.

The busy-scheduled senator again yesterday attacked Budweiser's purchase of the Cardinals. As at previous sessions in March and April, Johnson told a Senate judiciary subcommittee the deal threatened baseball.

"Selfish interests have moved into the control of professional baseball and openly and without shame have prostituted and exploited it," he said yesterday.

"We have made it the handmaiden and the adjunct of the brewing business."

Johnson told August A. Busch Jr., who also testified and disputed the Senator's statement, that he ought to quit brewing and concentrate on baseball.

Busch, president of both the brewery and the team, replied that his family had been in the brewery business for 100 years.

One year of baseball, he said, brought him to this:

"If anybody wants to buy the Cardinals, they're open. All I ask is that they be kept in St. Louis."

Johnson, president of the Class A Western League, asked what price Busch had in mind.

"Exactly what we paid for them and put into them," said Busch, whose aides told newsmen this would be $12 million dollars sale price plus $14 million for development.

After the hearing, Chairman Langer (R-ND) of the judiciary committee told newsmen the subcommittee would vote next Tuesday and report to the full committee.

He also heads the five-man subcommittee.

"Can't tell," he replied when asked how the vote would turn out. He said he wanted to "talk it over very carefully."

Two other subcommittee members, Sens. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) and Dirksen (R-Ill.), already had voiced opposition to Johnson's proposal.

Sen. Kilgore (D-W.Va.) spoke out against it yesterday.

While Langer would not commit himself, he praised Busch yesterday for being forthright and "not evasive." He called Busch "one of the best witnesses I've seen in 13 years."

Busch testified he bought the Cardinals in March, '53 to keep the club from leaving St. Louis. He is still convinced, he said, that St. Louis would have lost the National League team if Budweiser had not stepped in.

Johnson is in error, Busch testified, when he says Budweiser gets tax benefits from running the baseball team. The enterprises file separate returns, he said.

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick, another witness, told the subcommittee he regarded as "historical" Johnson's statement about "prostituting" baseball.

Warren Giles, National League president, testified Budweiser's purchase of the Cardinals "stabilized" baseball.

Little Mo May Leave Tourneys After Marriage

PARIS, May 26.—With Maureen Connolly planning marriage there is a glimmer of hope for the remainder of the title-starved field of women tennis players.

So far it is only a glimmer because "Little Mo" has not decided what she will do after she is married. She may continue to make tournament rounds and she may not.

"It depends on so many things," she said today. "We don't know if Norm will be able to travel."

Miss Connolly said she plans to marry Ens, Norman Brinker, who expects to be released from the U. S. Navy in November.

"I'll never give up tennis because it has been so much to me," she said. "I'll always play it and enjoy it but I just don't know if I'll be playing in so many tournaments."

Little Mo has completely dominated women's tennis singles field since 1951. She has won the U. S. title for the past three years, won the Australian title in 1953 in her only trip Down Under and will make her bid for her third straight Wimbledon crown next month.

And now she is in the semifinals.

Little LEAGUERS

The Rotary Club of the Little League will hold practice at 9 a. m. Thursday. Practice will be on the Little League diamond. Players are to report on time.

round of the French championships and appears to a shoo-in for her third straight title since her outstanding rivals, Shirley Fry and Doris Hart, passed up the French tournament to play in English tourneys.

Miss Connolly has lost only eight games in three matches in advancing to the semifinals, where she'll meet Italy's Sylvia Lazzarino.

The championships continued today with the quarterfinals of the doubles in both divisions.

The men's singles are down to the semifinals with three Americans still in the running. Tony Trabert of Cincinnati entered the round of four yesterday with a 7-5, 4-6, 6-4, 6-2 victory over Mervyn Rose, Australian champion, and Art Larsen of San Leandro, Calif., upset Wimbledon champion Vic Seixas 6-4, 1-6, 8-6, 6-1.

Others in the semifinals are Budgie Patty of Los Angeles and Argentina's Enrique Morea.

Army Promises Probe of Martin Discrimination

WASHINGTON, May 26.—The Army has promised to find out for House investigators whether Billy Martin, former New York Yankee second baseman, was subjected to Army discrimination because of his diamond prowess.

Chairman Hess (R-Ohio) of the House armed services subcommittee requested the investigation after Martin contended his name should not have been listed by the subcommittee among star athletes said to have been coddled by the Army.

Martin wrote Hess that because of his standing in the sports world he had been barred from trying out for the post baseball team at Ft. Ord, Calif., and had been granted fewer passes than other soldiers.

The subcommittee earlier this month investigated the careers of 10 athletes in uniform—among them Martin. Hess contended the men had been coddled and the Army gave assurances it would discriminate neither for nor against sports stars.

Brig. Gen. Herbert P. Powell, deputy chief of Army personnel, said yesterday, "It's hard to judge from here what happened to Martin. We'll go out to California and ask what the situation is."

In a letter to Powell requesting the inquiry, Hess quoted from a newspaper article which reported the commanding general at Ft. Ord as saying:

"Martin is too hot. He is radioactive. What would people say if I let him play ball a $25,000-a-year professional? People would say we are giving him a soft touch."

This quotation had been read to Powell at the hearings.

Sports Roundup—

Greenberg Picks Poor Time To Ask Inter-League Play

NEW YORK, May 26.—Hank Greenberg has picked a poor time to propose that the two major leagues whip up new spectator interest by playing a certain number of games against each other as part of their regular 154-game schedules.

Specifically, Cleveland's general manager would have each of the 16 big league clubs play two games in its home park against each of the eight teams in the rival circuit, the results to count in the respective league standings the same as any others. Hank figures that the fans of one-team cities, in particular, would break down the fences to see the stars of the opposite league in action.

He could be right, but it would be extremely difficult just now to sell the National League on the scheme. There might have been a time when the other league would have welcomed such a stimulant at the gate, but it scarcely would be interested at this juncture. The Nationals, with some reason, consider themselves quality folks, not in need of any back-door handouts.

For one thing, the league has won the last four All-Star Games and fully expects to make it five in this summer's classic at Cleveland. Club officials have long memories, and the Nationals have not begun to forget those bitter days when their muscular rivals were pouring it on them 12 times in the first 16 games, including one string of seven out of eight.

Additionally, the Nationals feel that the pendulum finally has swung strongly in their favor both in the matter of colorful, home-run-hitting "name" players and in the over-all quality of their eight member teams. With only one club, Pittsburgh, obviously out of the race, the old firm expects to put on a thriller right through the

The two flyers were taken to the New Castle County Air Force Base near Wilmington, 12 miles north-east of Newark. A spokesman said there would be an investigation. The plane was on a routine non-stop training flight from Mitchell

Negro Youths Give Ideas On Schooling

DALLAS (AP)—Like hundreds of others in the 17 segregated states, Booker T. Washington High of Dallas is an all-Negro school. Its 1,232 students and 47 teachers face about the same problems as those anywhere in adjusting to the Supreme Court's decision outlawing segregation.

This is the way some of them feel about it.

Peggy Jo Wedgeworth, 15, a freshman, has had little contact with white children. If segregated schools are merged before she graduates three years from now, she might find herself attending class with them. "I think we could get along all right if both sides tried. It would take time. But I'm glad. I think it's the court ruling is real nice—wonderful."

Claudette Roblow, 16, felt the same way.

"We wouldn't want to force ourselves on the white children, just try to make them like us. You can always do things for people to make them like you, if it's only giving them an aspirin for a headache," she said.

Emmett Brown, 18, a lanky star on the track and basketball teams, thinks that "everyone wants a good team. I don't think Negroes would have trouble making the team if they were good enough."

Washington students said, however, their main objective is not mingling with Whites but to make sure Negroes get equal educational opportunities. Most of those interviewed said they're ready to sit with white children and hope, in time, to make friends.

Dallas is noted for its Negro schools. It has two high schools and 14 elementaries to serve some 16,000 Negroes out of a total enrollment of 90,000. The Negro schools are in good shape, many built in a bond program the last few years.

An addition costing almost a million dollars was finished at Washington High just two years ago. "Booker T. is a fine school, and I'd be satisfied to stay right here," said Cleveland Turner, 17, an honor student.

"But what about other communities where facilities aren't equal? I believe the court decision will give all students equal opportunities."

Teachers at Washington High said they're not afraid of losing their jobs if segregated schools are merged—that, somehow, a place will be made for them.

A homemaker teacher, who, with bachelor and master degrees, earns $4,450 a year, said:

"I feel I could teach white students without difficulty. I just don't see why it wouldn't work." She would not be quoted by name.

Head Coach Raymond Hollie said the success of Negro athletes "would depend solely on their ability, and as for teachers—I think it would work the same way."

Students and teachers know it may be a long time before these problems are upon them.

The high court has called for further arguments in October on how to effect its judgment. Gov. Allan Shivers has said it might take years in this state. Texas Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar has advised superintendents to plan for the 1954-55 school year on the basis of continued segregation.

FORMER SEDALIAN AND FAMILY—Mrs. C. O. Fischer, nee Marguerite Keller, is shown in her home at Cleveland, O., with her husband, formerly of Lohman, Missouri, and their two daughters, Lona, 10, and Susan, 8. Mrs. Keller is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Roy Keller, 300 West Third.

The picture appeared in the Cleveland Press several weeks ago along with a feature story on Mr. Fischer, who is chairman of the Home and Flower Show committee of the Cleveland Home Builders Assn. Mr. Fischer is secretary-treasurer of the Brusino-Fischer Building Co., and general manager of the Expan Homes, Inc. Before he went to Cleveland, he was a New York telegraph operator and a Texas Western Union office manager for a while after he graduated from the Chillicothe Business College. For a time he operated his father's lumber business at Lohman after his death, later went to Junction City, Kan., with the Rock Island Lumber Co., which organization transferred him to Cleveland. He left that firm in 1945 and formed the Brusino-Fischer Building Co., with Alex Brusino.

Mr. Fischer's firm, the Brusino-Fischer Inc., has built more than 300 new homes. The last recently completed was known as the "House of Safety," to which the Cleveland paper devoted considerable space in the paper's Home Magazine.

Mr. and Mrs. Fischer were married in 1939 while he was operating the lumber firm in Lohman. They also have a son, Kent, 13, a student in the Culver Military Academy, Culver, Ind.

The story also refers to Mrs. Fischer's hobby of recording the calls of different kinds of birds she saw when she was a child in Sedalia. Her total is 138. Other spare moments she uses for civic work. Mrs. Fischer is president of the Fairview Community Council, which coordinates the work of 26 Fairview civic organizations and names the "citizen of the year" in Fairview, a suburb of Cleveland. She is a former school teacher and recently was nominated as treasurer of the Fairview Park Council of Parents and Teachers Association.

Mrs. Fischer is also a sister of Mrs. Connie Hayes, 312 West Broadway, Sedalia, and Mrs. Herbert (Radiance) Weverberg, of Louisville, Ky. She is a graduate of Smith-Cotton High School. By coincidence, there are other former Sedalians who reside near the Fischers. Mr. and Mrs. Morey Alcorn, (Mrs. Alcorn, nee Sara Arnold) and Mr. and Mrs. Billy Jolly. ## Eisenhowers Schedule Visits to Farm Home

WASHINGTON (AP)—Weekend trips to their new farm home near Gettysburg, Pa., will be on the fall schedule of President and Mrs. Eisenhower, the First Lady says.

The home is being almost completely rebuilt on the 189-acre farm they purchased after World War II.

Mrs. Eisenhower told women reporters yesterday she is looking forward to the close of the White House social season this month so she can concentrate on decorating the house.

She will be the chief decorator, she implied, and the President is giving her a free hand.

Red Terrorists Fare Badly In Malaya and In Burma

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst
GENEVA, May 26 (AP)—Wong Fui-fu's schoolmaster was a persuasive fellow. So, almost before he knew it, Wong became a Communist terrorist.

Wong's history is, in brief, the history of nine years of jungle warfare in Malaya, the story of Communist recruitment in Southeast Asia by persuasion, blackmail and kidnapping.

Wong, a young Malayan Chinese, was a bright student, the kind the Communists like to take over.

He lived in the Layang Layang area of British-ruled Malaya. One day schoolmaster Ho Choong gave Wong a list of foodstuffs to buy at the village store. Wong carried out the errand. Five times more the same thing happened.

It became routine.

The sixth time, unsuspecting Wong was asked to place the food under a palm tree near the village road. Wong did so. Then schoolmaster Ho had him.

The police, Wong was told, suspected him of supplying food to a civilian Chinese organization supplying Red terrorists in the jungle. This was a serious offense. The British-Malayan "Operation Kitchener," cracking down on the Red supply line, had reduced the terrorists in many areas living on oil palm nuts.

The only thing Wong could do, schoolmaster Ho told him, was hide out. Wong believed it. He joined the Communists' aid. He remained with them until he was punished for shooting a wild boar while on sentry duty. Then he escaped and surrendered to the British-Malayan forces.

In Malaya the Red terrorist movement is in deep trouble in its jungle fastnesses. As matters stand now, the Reds are also facing badly in Burma, a republic of 18 million freed by the British in 1947. In neighboring Thailand, the sturdy pro-Western Siamese are cracking down on Chinese elements suspect of fostering underground Red activities. But revolution marks time across the borders.

The outlawed domestic Reds are hanging on, waiting for a Communist victory in Indochina. If that comes, a high British source told me, the Communists can be expected to step up the pressure of both their political and their shooting wars.

All three countries once based their view of events in Indochina on emotion. They wanted to see it only as a patriotic, nationalist movement against the French. Communist Ho Chi Minh was looked upon as a Vietnamese patriot.

But today these three countries face bitter reality. One of Burma's outstanding leaders expressed his deep worry that Indochina meant "a progressive Communist encirclement of Burma."

In Thailand, the government casts a wary eye at the 50,000 people of Vietnamese extraction inside Thai borders who already are politically inclined toward Ho Chi Minh.

Such organizations as the Free Kachins from Burma and the Free Thais from Thailand sit in Red China. Someday the time may be ripe for them to return and set "internal" risings in motion.

Burma leaders, uncomfortably aware of the country's peril, say publicly they do not fear communism short of an invasion from China.

But a Burmese government leader told me there would be no official statement forthcoming on the Indochina situation because the government wanted to avoid antagonizing China.

It is strange to American ears to hear Burmese leaders in public speeches denouncing the United States as a colonial power. The violent attacks are all against America. Privately, Burmese will admit that this is because there is nothing immediate to fear from Americans. There is from China.

Part of this anti-Americanism—and it is largely a superficial sentiment—stems from the presence in Burma of Chinese Nationalist troops, for which Burma leaders blame the Americans. The troops escaped across Burma's frontier when the Communists won China's mainland.

"America was at least indirectly responsible," a government leader told me, "because the KMT, Kuomintang troops, were equipped with American arms and munitions. America feared Burma was going Communist and thus wanted to use the KMT."

He added that America's attitude evidently has changed, but since the United States is helping to remove the Nationalist troops, but insisted the presence of the KMT had prevented Burma from taking a strong anti-Communist stand.

The Socialist party ruling Burma was founded as a Marxist party. It still is. The interpretation originally was close to Moscow communism. Now it is veering away from Moscow in a revolution against totalitarianism.

Burma, Thailand and Malaya all have a large Chinese population, and Chinese Communist propaganda pours into Burma and Thailand. In Malaya, the Communist movement is more than 95 per cent Chinese.

The United States imports around eight million pounds of dried daisy blooms annually to make pyrethrum, an insecticide.
